Defendants.	§

MEMORANDUM AND ORDER

This is a suit to recover insurance proceeds and damages under the Texas Insurance Code, §§ 541.060 and 541.061. The defendants timely removed and filed a verified plea in abatement. (Docket Entry No. 4). The defendants argue that the plaintiffs violated the Texas Insurance Code requirement that a plaintiff seeking damages under the statute must give prior written notice of the complaint and the amount of damages sought, including fees, “not later than the 61st day before the date the action is filed.” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.154. The defendants asked this court to abate the suit until the 61st day after the plaintiffs provide the statutory written notice of their claims under the statute. The plaintiffs have not responded to the defendants’ motion.

The Texas Insurance Code requires that before a policy holder files a suit against an insurer, the policy holder must provide written notice to the other person not later than the 61st day before the date the action is filed.” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.154(a). The notice must advise the other person of “the specific complaint” and the amount of actual damages and expenses, including attorney’s fees reasonably incurred in asserting the claim against the other person.” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.154(b).

The notice requirement is intended to give a defendant insurer a right and opportunity to make a settlement offer. TEX. INS. CODE § 541.156; see also In Re Behr, No. 04-05-00895-CV, 2006 WL 468001, at *3 (Tex. App.—San Antonio Mar. 1, 2006) (holding that without presuit notice, a defendant “is denied his right to limit his damage exposure through an offer of settlement as contemplated by sections 541.156 – .159 of the Insurance Code”). After receiving notice of the suit, the defendant insurer has 60 days to make a settlement offer. The defendant insurer’s settlement offer must separately state: (1) “an amount of money or other consideration, reduced to its cash value, as settlement of the claim for damages”; and (2) “an amount of money to compensate the claimant for the claimant’s reasonable and necessary attorney’s fees incurred as of the date of the offer.” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.157(1)–(2). If the policy holder rejects the defendant insurer’s settlement offer, and, after liability is determined, “the court finds the amount stated in the settlement offer . . . is the same as, substantially the same as, or more than the amount of damages found by the trier of fact,” the policy holder may not recover “any amount in excess of the lesser of . . . the amount of damages stated in the offer; or the amount of damages found by the trier of fact.” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.159(a). If the court finds the amount stated in the settlement offer is the same as, substantially the same as, or more than the amount of damages, the policy holder’s claims for attorney’s fees are limited to “the amount of fees stated in the offer,” and the policy holder cannot recover for any attorney’s fees incurred after rejecting the settlement offer. TEX. INS. CODE § 541.159(b). The purpose of the 60-day notice requirement under the Texas Insurance Code is to “discourage litigation and encourage settlements of consumer complaints.” Hines v. Hash, 843 S.W.2d 464, 469 (Tex. 1992) (quoting John Walter Homes, Inc. v. Valencia, 690 S.W.2d 239, 242 (Tex. 1985)).

If the policy holder fails to provide the required notice, the Texas Insurance Code allows the defendant insurer to abate further proceedings. The defendant insurer “may file a plea in abatement not later than the 30th day after the date the person files an original answer.” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.155(a). Abatement is automatic and without court order if the defendant “[verifies]” the plea in abatement, and the plaintiff does not controvert the verified plea before the 11th day after the plea in abatement “beginning on the 11th day after the date a plea in abatement is filed.” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.156(c) (emphasis added). The statute provides that if the plaintiff disputes abatement, “[t]he court shall abate the action if, after a hearing, the court finds that the person is entitled to an abatement because the claimant did not provide the notice . . . required.” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.156(b). In either case, “[a]n abatement . . . continues until the 60th day after the date notice is provided . . . .” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.155(d). If the policy holder provides notice for a period shorter than 60 days before filing suit and the suit is automatically abated, a court does not need to “formally grant another sixty-day abatement” if more than 60 days have passed since the policy holder provided notice. See In re Alford Chevrolet–Geo, 997 S.W.2d 173, 178 (Tex. 1999) (upholding trial court’s decision that formal abatement was unnecessary even though the plaintiffs failed to provide notice 60 days before filing their DTPA suit because the suit was automatically abated and “by the time [the trial court] issued its ruling, more than sixty days had passed since Plaintiffs sent their notices”); Kennard v. Indianapolis Life Ins. Co., 420 F. Supp. 2d 601, 610 (N.D. Tex. 2006) (same).

The Texas Insurance Code recognizes an exception if “giving notice is impracticable because the action: (1) must be filed to prevent the statute of limitations from expiring . . . .” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.154(c)(1). Courts have held that “[i]n order to qualify for the exception to the notice requirement because of an impending statute of limitations, a plaintiff must plead and offer some proof that the giving of notice was ‘rendered impracticable’ by the impending expiration of the limitations period.” Cleo Bustamante Enters., Inc. v. Lumbermens Mut. Cas. Co., No. Civ. A. SA-05-CA0433, 2005 WL 1586994, at *1 (W.D. Tex. June 30, 2005); see also Camp v. RCW & Co., Inc., Civ. A. No. H-05-3580, 2007 WL 1306841 (S.D. Tex. May 3, 2007) (“[T]o benefit from this exception, a ‘plaintiff must plead and prove that he qualifies for the limitations exception.’” (quoting Winkle Chevy–Oldsmobile–Pontiac, Inc. v. Condon, 830 S.W.2d 740, 745 (Tex. App.—Corpus Christi 1992, writ dismissed))).

In this case, no statutory notice was provided. To the extent the plaintiffs believe the state court petition provides sufficient notice, it does not. The state court petition provides neither reasonable detail of “the specific complaint” or “the amount of actual damages and expenses, including attorney's fees reasonably incurred in asserting the claim against the other person.” TEX. INS. CODE § 541.154(b)(1). The plaintiffs have not met the requirements of the statutory notice.

The motion for abatement is granted. This case is abated until 60 days after the plaintiffs provide written notice to the defendants, as required by Texas Insurance Code § 541.154. Because the initial pretrial conference scheduled for June 24, 2011 falls in the abatement period, it is cancelled and rescheduled to September 30, 2011, at 8:45 a.m.

SIGNED on June 6, 2011, at Houston, Texas.
